DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-22 are presented for examination.

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is a repeat of the claims and does not describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

4. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. The current title, "Method and apparatus for enlarging an output display", gives the impression of enlarging a physical display such as a CRT or LCD for example. The following titles are suggested depending on which invention is elected: Method and apparatus for enlarging a substitute font set, for invention I, or Method and apparatus for enlarging an application window, for invention II.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 5-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 5, at line 3, "the enlarged font rendering command" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 7, at lines 10-11, "the magnified font size" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 13, at line 7, "the field enlargement factor" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 18, at line 3, "the enlarged font rendering command" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 19, at lines 11-12, "the magnified font size" lacks antecedent basis. Further, at line 15, the claim is incomplete ending with "is coupled to receive one or more " with no indication of which "one or more" element. Therefore, the scope of claim 19 cannot be determined.

Claims 6, 8-12, 14-17 and 20-22 are rejected based on dependence from the above rejected claims.

7. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 1-12, 14-22, drawn to enlarging a font set, classified in class 345, subclass 472.2.
 - II. Claim 13, drawn to enlarging a window, classified in class 345, subclass 671.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as enlarging a window in a display. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Almis R. Jankus whose telephone number is 571-272-7643. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 6:30-3:00.
